Open Spring 2013 English/Communications Classes

Still looking to register for English/Communications classes for the Spring 2013? The following courses still have open availability.

* Courses satisfies Foundation Course requirement for either Texts in Context (3 credits) or Diverse Voices in American Culture (3 credits).

Emily Dickinson Museum Field Trip

Sponsored by English/Communications and Lambda Iota Tau

Date: Saturday, December 1st
Departure Time: 8:00am
Return Time: 2:00pm
Location: Amherst, MA

Tour: Emily Dickinson’s World. A 90-minute guided tour of both the Homestead (Emily Dickinson’s house) and The Evergreens (Austin and Susan Dickinson’s home). In-depth focus on Emily Dickinson’s life and family and the major influences on her writing. Includes the parlors, library, and the poet’s bedroom at the Homestead; the library, parlor, dining room, kitchen, maid’s room, water closet, nursery, and “Emily Room” at The Evergreens.

Tickets paid for by the English/Communications department and Lambda Iota Tau. Any interested English/Communications students, please contact Jesse McMillian at jm7782@mcla.edu to reserve your space. Limited seats available.

SPIRES Updates

Please join Spires for the Featured Poets reading on Thursday, November 29th at 7pm in Sullivan Lounge. It will feature local poets including alumni, Jessica Sweeney, Professor Jeff McRae, Professor Mindy Dow, and current students.

Don’t forget! Submission Deadline for Spires is December 21st.
Email submissions to mclaspires@gmail.com

Alumni Update

Troy Gardner, 2008, has been published with an e-publishing company, MuseItUp. His young adult novel, Wakefield, came out last month and ten percent of proceeds from all book sales made in November will go to the Red Cross to help the Hurricane Sandy relief effort.

On behalf of the English/Communications department we would like to congratulate Troy on his accomplishments.

Have information you would like included in the next e-letter?
Email Jennifer Dermady at j.dermady@mcla.edu.